2nd Annual Yard/Bake Sale Fundraiser

To be held on October 7, 2017

Okay, it’s time to gather up that stuff and bring it to the GOP headquarters at 1817-A Madison Street, Suite 1. We will be there from 1:00 to 5:00 on Friday, October 6 to take and mark items to be sold on Saturday, the 7th. If you want to bring them on Wednesday, you can bring between 10am and 2pm or give Marie or Joy a call and arrangements can be made to have someone meet you or have your items picked up.

The sale is scheduled on Saturday from 7:30 a.m. to 1:00 noon. Some of us will be there at bright and early at 7:00 a.m. since there will be customers who get out early to hit the sales.

Last year we had a great variety of items all the way from baked goods to clothing, to household and holiday items. We had a very prosperous sale and this is our main fund raiser for the Montgomery County Republican Women Club.

We hope that you will not only bring items to sell, but will also volunteer to work with us. It was great fun last year being together and meeting and greeting all kinds of people! If you have hangers, bags and boxes, we can use those as well.

Make plans to come and be with us.

A Message from Your President

"The greater the challenge, the bigger the opportunity. Be Bold. Act purposefully. Embrace the future, respect the past. Lead with grace. Prove smart is sexy. Invest in each other. Be inspired and inspiring. Own your femininity. Stake your claim. Dream and do. Go all in. You get one life. Live it to the fullest....."

Recently I purchased an Ivanka Trump dress (on sale for sure) and when I removed the tags I found this quotation. Certainly different than the usual "dry clean only or wash in warm water." As I read the label I immediately saw the connection with the ideas on that label and our Montgomery County Republican Women.

Next month (November) our organization will elect new leadership and begin assigning new committee chairs for 2018-2019. Accept the challenge when you are asked to chair a committee. Be the one that steps out and boldly says, "Yes" I will serve.

Your leadership as Republican women can make a difference.

Let us all SERVE in some capacity so our club can continue to be a force in our community and the Republican Party.

- Engage and Develop Others*
- Reinvent Continuously*
- Value Results*
- Embody the Values*

WOMEN IN THE GOP

THIS IS OUR LAST ARTICLE IN THIS SERIES

For more than 150 years, women have been an active and vital force in the Republican Party.

2008 — Sarah Palin, who was elected the first woman governor of Alaska in 2006, makes history again by becoming the GOP's first woman vice presidential nominee.

2010 — In an election year that becomes known as the "Year of the Republican Woman," three Republican women become the first women governors of their states: Susana Martinez of New Mexico, Mary Fallin of Oklahoma and Nikki Haley of South Carolina. Nine Republican women are newly-elected to the U.S. House and one Republican woman is newly-elected to the U.S. Senate. More than a dozen are newly-elected to statewide executive office.

2012 — Although 2012 proved to be a challenging year for many Republican women candidates, the State of Indiana elected three Republican women to office: Sue Ellspermann as lieutenant governor, and Jackie Walorski and Susan Brooks to the U.S. Congress.

2014 — Utah's Mia Love is the first black Republican woman elected to the U.S. Congress, New York's Elise Stefanik is the youngest woman ever elected to the U.S. Congress, Joni Ernst is the first woman to represent Iowa in the U.S. Congress and the first female veteran in the U.S. Senate and Evelyn Sanguinetti is the first Hispanic lieutenant governor in Illinois and the first Latina lieutenant governor in the United States.

Republican Women Attend NFRW Convention in Philadelphia

It was with great honor that your President, Joy Huggins, and Marie Tillman, your Past President, were able to attend the National Federation of Republican Women 39th Biennial Convention in Philadelphia to represent Montgomery County Republican Women and Tennessee.

The Convention, held at the downtown Philadelphia Marriott Hotel, welcomed 2,000+ women from all over the United States. The workshops and speakers were exceptional and certainly motivated many to work hard for the Republican candidates, emphasizing the importance of the upcoming November elections and the 2018 elections.

The opening night reception was held at the National Constitution Center located on Independence Mall in historic Philadelphia. It was there that Joy and I were able to have our picture made with Ben Franklin and Thomas Jefferson in Signers' Hall, that special place which brings to life the final day of the Constitutional Convention in the Assembly Room of the Pennsylvania State House, now known as Independence Hall! What fun!

As we stood in the line waiting for the bus to take a group to the reception, Joy and I were able to exchange pins with ladies from several states and enjoyed great conversations.

Saturday began the workshops and the Convention business. Among the guest speakers were Nick Adams, the founder and Executive Director of FLAG, Allison Ball, the State Treasurer of Kentucky, Eric Golub, Author, speaker and Comedian, Kim Gudagno, the GOP nominee for Governor of New Jersey and video remarks by Diamond & Silk, Newt Gingrich, Vicky Hartzler, Congresswoman for 4th District Missouri, and Ronna McDaniel, Chair for the RNC. Bylaw amendments and resolutions were among the business at hand.

On Saturday, MCRWC President Joy Huggins accepted the Diamond Club Achievement Award on behalf of Montgomery County Republican Women. This award is presented to clubs that demonstrate excellence in membership development, campaign activities, community relations, programs and club functions.

Congratulations to all of our members for contributing to the work in-

involved in achieving this award.

On Sunday, after the Convention closed, Joy and I took a walking trip to the Liberty Bell and visited the Independence Mall. It was great fun, even though everything was closed and we couldn't take an official tour. Inside the Independence Mall, our President, for a few moments, became the face of the Statue of Liberty!

What a wonderful experience.

Why the Pink Scarves? The TFRW President, Linda Buckles, was running for one of the three NFRW Member-At-Large positions and this was her campaign color. She asked that everyone from Tennessee who attended wear this scarf as an attention-getter to the Tennessee Delegation and to remind those Board Members who would be voting that she would like to be elected to this position. Unfortunately, President Buckles was not elected to one of those positions.

Meet the Candidates

As we discussed in the last newsletter we are attempting to give you some information about a different candidate each month.

We continue here with those candidates as we preview each one in alphabetical order This does not indicate any type of endorsement for the particular candidate, but is simply for informational purposes so that you can make a better decision about your vote.

This month's candidate featured is US Congressman Diane Black.

The information provided here was taken from her website at <https://www.dianeblack.com>. You can go to that site to get more information.

Diane firmly believes in the rule of law. Her legislation to cut off funding to sanctuary cities was approved by the U.S. House of Representatives. As Governor, she will ensure there are NO sanctuary cities in Tennessee and she will work with President Trump and Immigration and Customs Enforcement (ICE) to put Tennesseans first.

A former Tennessee Right to Life legislator of the year, and sponsor of Tennessee's most important pro-life law, Diane is a steadfast champion for the rights of the unborn. She authored the Defund Planned Parenthood Act to block all federal funding for the nation's largest abortion provider. Diane also sponsored the Conscience Protection Act, to protect the religious freedom of entities that refuse to perform, pay for, or refer abortions.

Diane was raised by parents who taught her the conservative values she lives by today. As a registered nurse, small businesswoman and former educator, Diane brings a fresh perspective to issues that affect all Tennesseans.

The middle daughter of Great Depression-era parents, Diane spent the earliest years of her life in public housing and, upon the encouragement of a high school guidance counselor, became the first person in her family to attain a college education. As a former single parent who worked nights to raise her kids, Diane knows that hard work and accountability are Tennessee values.

Diane was elected to the House of Representatives in 2010 and is the only Tennessean to ever chair the House Budget Committee. She is a sponsor of the Balanced Budget Amendment to the Constitution and the No Budget, No Pay Act, which withholds pay from Congress if an annual budget is not passed by the legal deadline.

Black's staunch fiscal conservatism earned her the prestigious "Award for Conservative Excellence" from the American Conservative Union. She and her husband of over 35 years, Dr. David Black, have three grown children and six grandchildren. They live in Gallatin and attend Community Church in Hendersonville.
